Must see the rivers how they run
Through woods and meads, in shade and sun;
Sometimes swift, sometimes slow,
Wave succeeding wave, they go
A various journey to the deep,
Like human life, to endless sleep!

L. E.

are that this ultimate phase of all true temperance reform will receive marked attention in the Congress deliberations. Dr. Slotemaker de Bruine, the able Congress Secretary at Utrecht, and the committee from the "Volkbondtegen Drankmuisbruik," as the Dutch Temperance Society is named, are preparing a notably interesting program in which quality is not sacrificed to quality.

International Anti-Opium Congress.

The tremendous battle now stirring every land for complete

Text Gen. 7. 22. He that breath of life, from nostrils dwelling water- shall flow rivers
Deut. 32. 47. For it is your life. forth.

Manifold -
Riches - Peculiar -

"Man is an organ of life, God alone is life." - Swedenborg.

We are going to liberate human existence from its unfree beings as slaves, this Burning of Jesus Christ

Our bodies are mines.
Our minds are mines
Our activities are mines
Our citizenship liberties
The human race is a mine - for gen. to gen.

Jesus Christ the River of Life (2)

Jesus the most wonderful Canadian river that ever flowed.

1. His course is in the sublimest heights
   His goal looks him thru the lowest depths. Like the Jordan River.
2. the river that starts high up in the mountains meets with many obstacles in its way to the ocean - ridges & boulders
   If it can flow around them it does so; if not; it rises to their heights and flows over them, plunging headlong into the depths below.
   Jesus is a Victoria and a Niagara, leaping over an El Capitan
3. The Nile River is navigable up to the Falls.
   The River of Jesus is navigable up to the source Humanity can travel on it all the way to God from whence it starts.
4. The River of Jesus is clear & pure, refreshing
   the thirsty who drink from it and healing
   the sick who bathe in it.

5. The River of Jesus is the River of Peace, Jesus directed the current of his living Towards Gods and ~~left it~~ by means of obedience and fidelity made a channel for it to reach as to ever reach it saying Thitherway.
The song of this river is the song of Love.
Would that the nations might flow the same way!

6. The River of Jesus overflowed the banks to spread its healing influences fair and wide and to create new life.
The over-flow of the Nile & the lotus flower.

B- What kind of a River are you?
Can the thirsty drink of the waters and be refreshed? In drinking, would they be kept free from all disease germs?
Is yours a navigable river upon which those living in darkness & trouble can sail in safety to the light & eternal Day?

Does the bed of your river hold securely in the Righteousness of God?
Does your river overflow its banks that delightful richness in the world of and create lotus flowers of beauty and happiness?

Does your river sing the song of Love?

Perhaps your thirsty years are now
at all but just some desert region.
Upon deep saying in yourself "I want" flow like the River of Jesus. "I want" or this:
"I can't or that." "I want", "I want"

The desert of Sahara - bleak & barren.
From 20 to 30 feet below the surface is a hard pan of solid rock and sand flows mighty rivers. By digging down to it, wells of water can be had for the tapping
of the deepest rich & fertile lands.
Beneath the surface of your desert of "Can't" flows God's river of Life and of success. Dig down to it with the spade of endeavor; keep on digging and your unrelenting effort will bring to the surface its life giving waters.

Released for Publication
For Week Ending Oct. 29, 1910.

Prohibition "Coming Back"—Whisky Trade Indefensible—A Party Will Enforce the Law.

Mr. T. M. Gilmore, the Louisville (Kentucky) humorist, who has played so long in peace with his little Model License League, comes to the front lately with a really pathetic enumeration of his trade's recent disasters at the hands of the people and asks: "Can the liquor business be successfully defended at the bar of public sentiment?" And with a gloomy eye on the late manifestations of a renewed nation-wide interest in the prohibition movement, the constant assertions coming from the highest medical and health authorities as to the harmfulness of alcoholic products, and the notable tendency to desert local option and local expedients for State and National campaigns against the liquor business, he sees nothing but shoal water ahead.

IMPORTANT COMING EVENTS.

Second World Council of International Prohibition Confederation, 1911—International Anti-Opium Congress—National W. C. T. U., November 12-17—Christian Citizenship Conference, November 16—Miscellaneous.

Preliminary announcement has just been made of the coming second biennial World's Council of Prohibition.

International Prohibition Conference.

The date of the next International Prohibition Conference has been appointed, tentatively, for Wednesday, September 13, 1911, to meet at The Hague (Scheveningen), Holland. It will be held in connection with the XIII International Congress on Alcoholism, meeting by special invitation of the Queen of Holland and the Dutch Government. The sessions will be held in the beautiful Kurhaus, which is second only to the Casino at Ostend as the finest seaside assembly building in Northern Europe. Meeting as the second World's Prohibition Conference does, almost under the shadow of Dr. Andrew Carnegie's magnificent Palace of Peace on the outskirts of the lovely capital of the brave little Netherlands, this new message of deliverance for the nations from the war of drink should mark an auspicious day for the prohibitory movement around the globe. An afternoon official conference with representatives from many lands to hear the reports of progress since the London meeting of last year is planned for, with a public meeting for the evening, followed by such other conferences as may be found necessary during the week of the Congress.

Prohibition figures in the official program of the Congress under "Department B: The State Against Alcoholism," and the appearances

Cox-Republicanism comes the interesting news of the razing of the Elm Street Club Building, which is to be supplanted by a bottling house. For thirty years this building was the home of the famous and infamous Elm Street Club, founded by George Moerlein, a brewer, and the birthplace, according to the American Brewers' Review, of Republican power in Cincinnati.

Uncle Sam Aids Brewers and Distillers—Federal Officials Prominent in Trade.

As if the degradation of our cities by government-licensed saloons were not sufficient, the dominant party at Washington has humiliated the American people before the world by making our consular service an expansion agency for the drink trade. Here is a proposition, from the American Brewers' Review, to invade the West Indies with a new and horrible missionary propaganda, by which American, or rather imported, brewers hope to wring from the wretched coolie the few cents that constitute his daily wage:

"The American Consul in the West Indies reports that there is a glowing opportunity to invest American capital in a brewery, as beer is not manufactured on the island. The Department of Commerce and Labor has the information."

Excise Commissioner Boosts Liquor Organization.

A further instance of Republican Federal fostering of our greatest crime-producer follows. We quote from "Beverages:"

"The organization work is gaining great impetus, and many new members are being daily enrolled as a result of the mass meetings of dealers which have recently been addressed by Hon. Maynard N. Clement, State Excise Commissioner. The Commissioner in his addresses urged the dealers to join their local organizations and affiliate with the State Association as a sure means of keeping posted on legislative matters affecting their trade."

"Good" Man Can't Dominate Bad Party.

Now, in the face of consistent and active treachery to Reform on the part of Democracy and Republicanism in every section of the nation, comes the Anti-Saloon League of Texas, with a front-page leader in "Home and State," with an eloquent plea for the election of Woodrow Wilson as Governor of New Jersey, on the usual "good man" plea. Does the Texas Anti-Saloon League know that at the Democratic convention which nominated Dr. Wilson a plank favoring local option was "ruled out of order?" Is there any likelihood that any temperance measure will be "in order" during Mr. Wilson's incumbency and the rule of New Jersey by the beer-plutocrats who nominated him?

gent leaders from the Democratic party) tacitly agreed to a modification by the next Legislature of the liquor law from rigid State prohibition to county option." So, in fleeing from the bloody clutches of rum-ruled Democracy, the fair virgin of prohibition has thrown herself into the arms of a similar ogre.

Alabama and Georgia Politicians Knife Prohibition.

The sickening spectacle of open conspiracy against the people's rule in Tennessee is duplicated in Georgia, where the people repudiated the liquor-elected Brown and turned to Hoke Smith, the erstwhile signer of the prohibition bill, for an honest enforcement of the laws, overlooking the significant silence of the Democratic platform on the subject of prohibition enforcement, the isue at the convention being "sidestepped," as a Georgia editor well puts it.

In Alabama, where law defiance has been the platform of the press and the profitable policy of the city officials, especially in Mobile, the complete stifling of the prohibition law has still failed to show the amazing prosperity of illegal trade in alcoholic drinks which existed prior to the adoption of prohibition.

Bossism Kills Prohibition and Initiative and Referendum in New Mexico—Delaware Democrats Are Wet.

New Mexico's State constitutional convention, consisting of seventy-one Republicans and twenty-nine Democrats, elected Charles A. Spiess of Las Vegas president. His selection signified that the conservatives are in control of the convention and that the initiative and referendum and prohibition will not be written into the constitution, but that the organic law will be a purely fundamental document, as is desired by President Taft.

Note the significance of President Taft's hand in the shaping of this new State.

The Democratic State convention in Delaware developed into an active wet and dry fight, with the wets in full possession of the field when the smoke lifted.

Cincinnati in Throes of Sensational Graft Revelations—Protected Gambling and Republicanism.

Cincinnati is just at present in the midst of long-expected "disclosures" of protected gambling and police graft. Just what it discloses and who is enlightened by this belated investigation is a mystery. It has long been the talk of the streets and clubs of Cincinnati and, indeed, a generally accepted fact, that nothing was barred in that city which could afford to meet the city hall price. The whole thing has been dragged before the public by a saloon-keeper named Mulligan, who testifies that his red-light dive paid high police officials from $10.00 to $20.00 a week for years for "protection." In the light of this revelation of the alliance between Saloon and Vice and sion of our educational work now carried on through the Associated Prohibition Press, and the National Prohibition Book-store. Our Press Bulletin is now printed instead of mimeographed, enabling us to reach a much wider constituency of editors and correspondents. The new form has met with general approval, presenting a more attractive appearance, and being more satisfactory for editorial use and reference.

Our plate and cartoon service, the latter inaugurated in January, is being widely used and I believe the effect has been helpful upon our party agitation.

At the request of State Chairman Wilson of the Illinois State Committee, the National Committee has taken over the publication of the American Prohibition Year Book, publishing early in the year the 1910 volume of 250 pages regarding our national movement and its various associated phases of interest. This Year Book has had a wide circulation and is on the reference shelves in a large number of libraries, and has met with encouraging commendation.

A large amount of valuable material has already been collected for the 1911 Year Book which will be placed on the market about January 1.

In this connection it may be of interest to note that many well-known annuals and almanacs have regularly, for several years, used our data, prepared at their request, showing the progress being made by the temperance and prohibition movement throughout the United States. It is also encouraging to report that an increasing number of magazines and correspondents for well-known periodicals are constantly requesting information from our press department.

Another development of our national work during the past year has been the organization of our Prohibition Book-store. Our aim has been to provide a medium for the dissemination of Prohibition Party literature, together with such leaflets and other printed documents, which may be of use to our workers throughout the country. Through our Book-store may now be supplied all standard publications pertaining to the liquor question and at current prices.

Our National Headquarters, being conveniently located at 92 La Salle street, opposite the city hall, and accessible to our local and visiting prohibition friends, has been visited during the year by hundreds of our party workers from nearly every state in the Union, who have been passing through the city, and who, in addition to receiving the counsel and suggestions freely given by our staff, gained an evidence of the vitality of our national work in a way no other object lesson could so vividly afford.

Regarding the National Prohibitionist.

Matter which recently appeared in the National Prohibitionist was taken up for discussion, and after a full and careful consideration, the following motion, made by Mr. Samuel Dickie and supported by Mr. Felix McWhirter, was unanimously adopted:

"We deplore the recent utterances of 'The National Prohibitionist' in its unwise and unauthorized attack upon workers of state and national prominence and regretfully announce that this committee feels compelled to notify members of the Prohibition Party that we cannot sustain 'The National Prohibitionist' and do not look upon it as, in any sense, representing the party organization.

"This committee records its entire confidence in the integrity, ability and fidelity of Hon. Chas. R. Jones, our National Chairman, and commend him to the continued and unreserved confidence and support of the rank and file of our party."